Bloody Violence Across Nation Claims 16 Lives

Gangster Is Killed In Biggest Gun Battle in N. Y. History

By United Press
Mass murderers, a spectacular police gun battle, a sex fiend, and suicides have claimed 16 lives in a nationwide rash of bloody violence.

The biggest gun battle in the history of New York City ended when a desperate gangster was killed, his chest ripped open by police bullets, Sunday.

Two hundred policemen had laid siege to pint-sized Augusto Robles' last hideout for 90 minutes. Thousands of New Yorkers watched the gun battle and some cheered the desperado.

At Atlanta, Ga., Alton Nix Treadaway, apparently crazed with jealousy, broke into a home where a drinking and dancing party was in full swing. He killed the woman he had been dating, who was clad only in a slip, and two men. Then he took his own life.

Pennsylvania Murders
An even more grisly mass murder was uncovered at Hoover, Pa., when police broke into a mining town house to find the bodies of Robert L. Miller, his wife, his daughter, and two men.

In other crimes and suicides across the nation Sunday:
The nude body of Mrs. Karil Rogers Graham, 39, was found in her blood-spattered Los Angeles apartment. Mrs. Graham, an art school executive, had been raped and beaten to death following a midnight swimming party. Police searched for a one-time boy friend, identified as a former mental patient.

In the "Atomic City" of Los Alamos, N. M., a prominent pediatrician Dr. Malcolm M. Cook, 48, apparently shot himself to death after he was indicted on charges of transporting two little girls across state lines in his private airplane for immoral purposes.

Two husbands shot and killed their wives and then committed suicide within a few hours in Ohio.
At Pueblo, Colo., ex-convict John Villalobos, 25, was accused of kidnapping Mrs. Dorothy Beauford, 21, raping her, stabbing her eight times, and then abandoning her on

Questioned Here In Burglary of Service Station

A man who said he lived near Georgetown, Ind., was picked up in a restaurant in East Harrisburg this morning in connection with a service station burglary during the night.

He is Edward Hubert, 31, and Sheriff William T. Barrett and deputies were questioning him in connection with the burglary of the Roy Evans service station at Stonefort, in which cigars, cigarettes, candy and 12 cans of oil are missing.

Sheriff Barrett and Deputy Everett N. Sneed went to Stonefort this morning to investigate the burglary and while there got the description of a man who had gotten a ride to Harrisburg. The description was radioed to Deputy Sheriff James S. Lyon and Lyon and State Policemen Michael Taggart and Guthrie Alexander found him in the local restaurant.

The officers said he had a number of candy bars, cigars and packages of cigarettes in his clothing when apprehended. Hubert denies breaking into the station.

Tomorrow Last Day to File Petitions for State's Attorney Race

Tomorrow will be the last day to file nominating petitions for state's attorney and there were indications today that there would be no Republican candidate file for election.

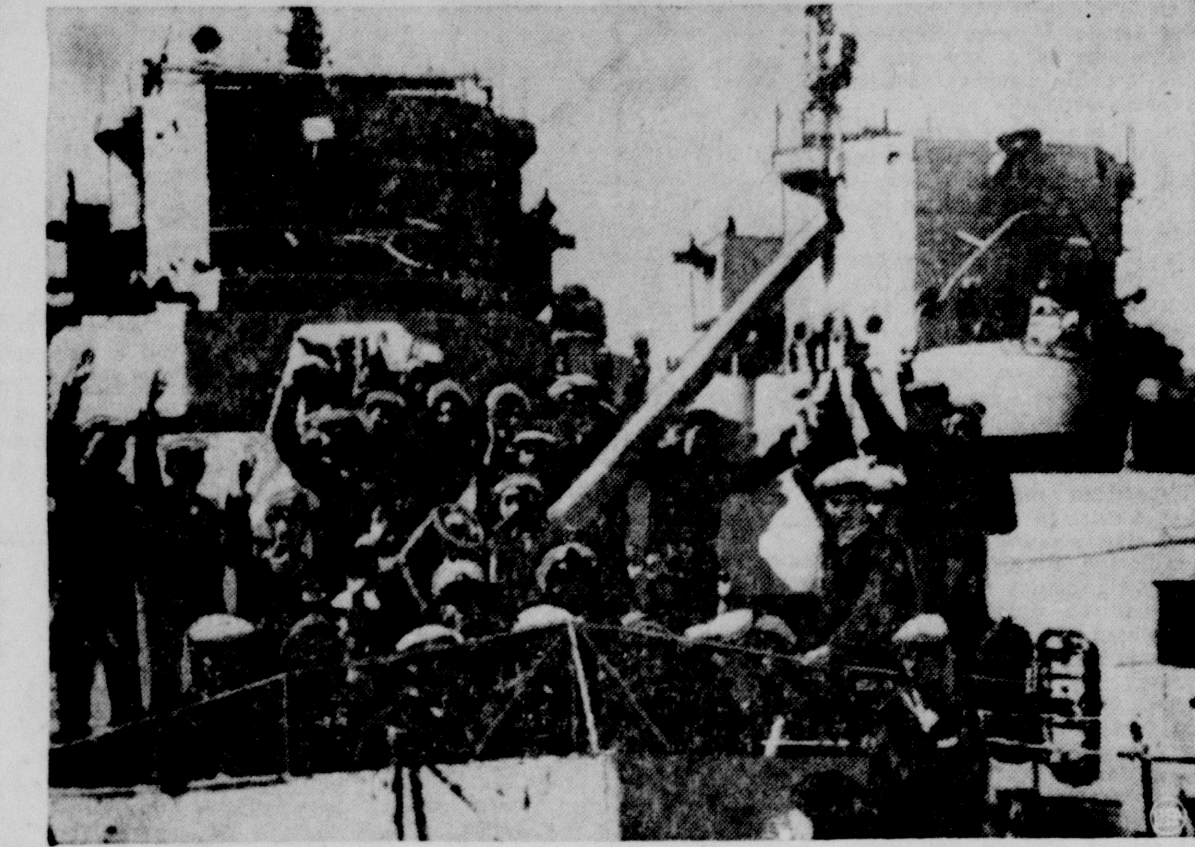

So far there has been one candidate, Atty. Robert V. Wilson of Eldorado, who has filed on the Democratic ticket.

It was announced today that the county clerk's office would accept nominations up to midnight tomorrow.

The election is to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of State Senator Glen O. Jones. The county board named Atty. K. C. Ronalds to fill the vacancy until it is filled by special election.

Court House Offices To Close Tomorrow

Offices in the court house will close tomorrow because of Washington's birthday anniversary.

GOOD HUNTING FOR NATIONALISTS—Triumphant Nationalist sailors wave from their destroyer escort as it steams into harbor at Keelung, Formosa, after a foray against Red Chinese forces en route to Taishan Island, heavily garrisoned by the Communists. Nationalist Chinese officials claim 41 Red vessels put out of action in one 24-hour period, and one submarine possibly sunk. Reds are believed to be mounting an invasion force on Taishan for action against Nanchi Island, Formosa's northernmost outpost. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

Nation's Worst Blizzard Roars Into Canada; New Cold Wave is On Way

By United Press

The nation's worst blizzard in six years roared into Canada today, but a new blizzard threatened to sweep across the Great Plains.

The devastating weekend storm left at least 42 persons dead, mountainous drifts, and scores of marooned travelers in its wake.

Great Plains residents had hardly begun the job of digging out today when the U. S. Weather Bureau announced that a new cold wave, packing zero temperatures and snow, would sweep out of Montana.

"It's got all the makings of a blizzard," a forecaster said. The Great Falls, Mont., Weather Bureau said a cold wave, followed by snow, would spread across the state tonight and Tuesday. Winds up to 30 miles per hour, blowing off drifting snow, and temperatures falling to or below zero were predicted.

Snow and much colder weather were expected in the Dakotas, while the Omaha, Neb., Weather Bureau issued a special advisory of icy air and zero temperatures. Nebraska braces again.

Nebraska, buried under up to 12 inches of snow by the last blizzard, was due for "rather severe blowing and drifting snow," the advisory said.

The weekend blizzard took a freak cut northward Sunday night after lashing parts of Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Heavily populated areas to the east were spared from the wintry blasts, but snow driven by howling winds blanketed most of southern Manitoba and northwestern Ontario today.

Bitter winter weather meanwhile struck in two other parts of the globe. The North Sea froze and a smoke-haze turned the sky green over Britain. In the China Sea, a violent storm which killed 38 persons and sank or crippled 38 vessels began to weaken.

This nation's blizzard was the worst since 1949, when a vast "Operation Snowbound" was launched to rescue stranded ranchers, farmers and livestock.

It packed highways down with snow and deaths caused by traffic accidents, over-exertion and exposure claimed a rising toll of lives.

New Mexico Tragedy
The greatest weather-caused tragedy was in New Mexico, where an airliner carrying 16 persons crashed into a mountain peak during a snow storm.

A 15-man rescue party reached the still-smoking wreckage Sunday. All 16 persons were dead. In Nebraska, which felt the blizzard's full fury for three snow-bound days, a party of three ministers which had been bound for Pine Bluff, Wyo., was still missing.

A total of 29 persons, including four rescue workers missing since Saturday night, had been rescued in Nebraska alone by early today. However, snow-swept Nebraska towns were still clogged with marooned travelers, including the passengers of two Greyhound buses.

Officers said the situation got out of hand when thousands of Mardi Gras revelers formed the largest carnival crowd they had seen in 20 years.

The riots were touched off when police attempted to arrest an auto theft suspect and the man yelled to the celebrating crowd that he was a federal agent being arrested.

"I'm a federal agent," he shouted. "The police are putting me in jail for nothing."
The suspect was identified by police as Lawrence Morrison, 18, Arlington, Va.

Police said the first riot broke out in the 700 block of St. Peter, deep in the heart of the French Quarter. The second riot flared in Pat O'Brien's Bar, popular tourist spot in the same block, and the third erupted outside Dixie's Bar of Music on Bourbon Street.

Police arrested 100 persons who bombarded officers with bottles, tore uniforms, surged into the streets halting traffic and heckled officers for trying to arrest Morrison.

"Let's take the prisoner. Let's beat up the cops," they yelled.

At Pat O'Brien's, a patron was arrested when he began stripping off his clothes and tossed lighted paper and bottles into the crowd. Police said the crowd jumped the policeman and freed the prisoner.

When reinforcements arrived, they were attacked and their uniforms torn.

Police described the crowd as the "wildest" they had seen in years.

Harrisburg Democrats Select Candidates For Township Election

Harrisburg township Democrats today had their choices picked for the April 5 township election.

At a caucus held Saturday afternoon at the court house, the following were nominated:

For highway commissioner, Wilbur Brown; for justice of the peace, John Owen; and park board member, Floyd Kimbro.

Eisenhower Endorses American Legion's Back to God Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said Sunday night that recognition of God "is the first and the most basic expression of Americanism."

He appeared on a filmed television program sponsored by the American Legion, which is conducting a "back to God" campaign aimed at encouraging regular public worship, daily family prayer, and religious education of youth.

"Each day we must ask that Almighty God will set and keep his protecting hand over us so that we may pass on to those who come after us the heritage of a free people, secure in their God-given rights, and in full control of a government dedicated to the preservation of those rights," the President said.

"I can ask nothing more of each of you, of all Americans," Mr. Eisenhower said, "than that you join with the American Legion in its campaign."

Chicago to Vote Tomorrow in Bitter Primary

CHICAGO (UP)—Mayor Martin H. Kennelly's bitterly fought challenge of Chicago's powerful Democratic organization reached its climax today. The voters will decide who won at the polls Tuesday.

The ding-dong primary battle for the Democratic mayoralty nomination pitted Kennelly, mayor of the city for two terms, against Richard J. Daley, chairman of the Cook County Democratic organization.

Daley is also Cook County clerk, an office to which he was elected last fall after statements that he was not interested in the mayor's chair.

Also in the race were Benjamin Adamowski, a former corporation counsel under Kennelly, and a political newcomer, Clarence Babek.

Kennelly, a white-thatched, bachelor businessman, has accused the Democratic organization of "dumping" him because he wouldn't play ball with the politicians.

He decided to wage a no-holds-barred fight as an independent after the party leaders gave the nod to Daley.

Daley, a veteran politician who has the support of Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), retorted with charges that Kennelly is a "do-nothing" mayor.

The fight got so intense that extra policemen were scheduled to be at the polls Tuesday.

The Chicago Democratic organization hasn't taken a licking in a mayoralty race since 1927, when Republican William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson broke into the victory column. However, Kennelly supporters said they saw signs of victory in a straw vote poll conducted by the mayor's campaign headquarters.

Meanwhile, the Republicans were happy to sit by and let the Democrats fight among themselves. A former Democrat, Alderman Robert E. Merriam, was sure to win the GOP nomination against token opposition.

Humphrey Asks Democrats to Abandon Tax Cut

Proposal Will Allow $20 Cut for Taxpayer, Dependents

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey urged House Democrats today to abandon their income tax-cutting drive.

But, a congressional informant said, Humphrey told the House Ways and Means Committee at a closed session that he does not know whether President Eisenhower would veto a tax cut if one is enacted.

There was no sign the Democrats would back down from their plan to give every taxpayer a $20 income tax cut and an additional $20 for each dependent, effective next Jan. 1.

The Democrats have a 15-10 margin to put the tax-cut proposal through the Ways and Means Committee.

The committee called Humphrey into a closed session before voting to tack the tax-cutting plan onto administration legislation to continue for another year corporation and excise (sales) tax rates which otherwise would be reduced April 1.

Informants said Humphrey "vigorously opposed" the tax-cut plan, which was announced Saturday by Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Democrats hope to push the bill through the House by Friday. There is opposition from at least one key Democratic senator—Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee. But Democratic leaders were hopeful of getting the legislation to the White House within 38 days.

In an effort to make it veto-proof, Democrats decided to tack the tax cut on as an amendment to an administration bill to postpone for another year a 3-billion-dollar cut in corporation and excise taxes automatically scheduled for April 1.

Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee charged the Democrats with "improper tactics," and "political demagoguery" and said they were putting politics above the country's welfare.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass) replied that "anytime anything is done for the average person Republicans oppose it and cry politics."

The Democratic strategy obviously was aimed at seizing the tax-cutting initiative from President Eisenhower for political advantage in the 1956 presidential campaign. The strategy evolved after President Eisenhower said he hoped to recommend an income tax cut when Congress returns next January.

Martin Adams, 66, an unmarried man who had worked for 30 years on the farm of Mrs. Clyde Mitchell between Ridgway and Eldorado, died Saturday in the Pearce hospital.

Graveside services were held this morning at 11 a. m. at the St. Joseph's cemetery in Ridgway. Rev. V. E. Hamagan conducted the service. The Smith and Edwards funeral home was in charge.

Raymond Davidson was nominated the Democratic candidate for highway commissioner of Carrier Mills township at a caucus held at Carrier Mills Saturday afternoon.

Confusion Gets Out of Hand in Capital's Annual Washington Birthday Sales

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Tuesday is the day when the confusion, generally fairly organized heretofore, gets out of hand.

It's Washington's birthday and an excuse for local merchants to unload junk off their shelves to the gullible, don't-give-a-darn public.

It's billed in the public prints as the Washington Birthday Sales. It's a fascinating scene. But a lot of right-thinking people have cried across the years that there ought to be a more dignified manner of celebrating the birth anniversary of our first leader than offering ladies pink panties for eight cents—or four cents per pantleg.

It is said to have started in the long ago when one merchant, finding himself with an overload of ladies' panties and other things, decided to cash in on junk. He did that and gathered himself a bundle of long green.

Hoover Commission Urges Program to Reduce Paperwork by Government

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Hoover Commission reports that it costs as much for federal paperwork today as it did to run the entire government only 24 years ago.

The commission on government reorganization said it costs the average American family of four more than $100 a year in taxes just to pay for such paperwork. Such costs are unnecessary, it said.

The commission suggested a lot of paperwork would be eliminated if many government employees would write clearly, briefly, and to the point.

The government creates 25 billion pieces of paper each year, not counting pamphlets and periodicals, it said. This amazing output, it added, requires the employment of 750,000 federal workers and costs four billion dollars a year. In 1931, the entire federal government spent only $3,577,000,000.

The commission recommended a government-wide paperwork management program that, it said, would save the government an estimated 250 million dollars a year, even at the very outset.

The program would give the General Services Administration full "responsibility for general supervision over all phases of paperwork management throughout the executive branch of the government."

The commission also recommended that Congress authorize changes in income tax and social security information now required from employers.

The commission said present forms require from employers about 180 million lines of information each year, much of which duplicates other data supplied the agencies. It said the proposed changes would save the government much money and employers more than 20 million dollars a year.

Rites Held at Carmi For Mrs. T. W. Hall, 93, Former Resident

Funeral services were held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the First Baptist church in Carmi for Mrs. Delia M. Hall, 93, formerly of Harrisburg. She was one of Carmi's oldest residents.

Mrs. Hall died Thursday, Feb. 17, at her home, 304 West Main in Carmi. She had been in an invalid for three and a half years but before her illness she was very active in church work, having taught a Sunday school class in the First Baptist church in Carmi for 50 years.

She was born in Saline county and was the former Delia M. Rabourn, daughter of James Thomas and Hannah Stricklin Rabourn. Mrs. Hall was the widow of Thomas M. Hall, who died Feb. 12, 1937. They had been married for 56 years at the time of his death. Mr. Hall, in his early years, taught in the Saline county schools, was deputy sheriff and later became cashier of the Saline County Bank of Harrisburg. They resided on West Poplar and will be remembered by some of the older residents of Harrisburg.

After moving to Carmi Mr. Hall helped organize the First National Bank of Carmi and was president of this bank at the time of his death and also a member of the state legislature serving on his second term of office.

Mrs. Hall is survived by several nieces, nephews and cousins. Among those residing in Saline county are Mrs. Elsie Hale, Mrs. Norman Dixon, Mrs. Randall Reed of Harrisburg, Mrs. Brooks Harris and Stan Rabourn of Galatia, and Cecil Rabourn of Carrier Mills. The Halls had no children of their own but reared Mr. Hall's nephew, Dave Hall, who resides in Carmi. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Rabourn, made her home with Mrs. Hall for the past few years.

Operate Big Pump At Reservoir After Week-End Rains

Week-end rains gave the city the opportunity to start its big 14,500 gallons a minute pump on the city reservoir last night. Amos Doom, water superintendent, reported this morning.

He said that Middle Fork was filled enough to start the pump at 11:30 p. m. and that it was still running at 8:30 a. m. today. He did not estimate how long the big pump can run.

At 8:30 a. m. today, however, 7,830,000 gallons of water had been pumped into the city supply and an unestimated amount had poured into Lake Harrisburg.

The precipitation here was .71 inch over the week-end and .82 at Galatia but the ground was so well soaked when the rains started that there was good runoff.

There are other darling little things. Like fur coats, much-used and slightly re-built also for 99 cents. They aren't chinchilla, but what 99 cent coat is? What's wrong with a dyed mouse, if it only costs 99 cents. You can use it for to cover the canary cage, can't you?

Seven inch televisions sets, with special magnifying specks, pitched in run all the way up to $1.10. You don't try things on. Shoes are in boxes.

If they give you corns a fit, they might make a nice present next Christmas for the man who picks up the banana peels and apple parings.

And oh, yes. One store has advertised "men's pants — one half off." That's always interesting.

Urges Force Along NATO Lines in Europe

Dulles to Leave Manila Tuesday for Bangkok Conference

BANGKOK, Thailand (UP)—Thailand today urged the eight South-east Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) nations to create a standing SEATO army during this week's conference here, to halt increasing Communist activity in Southeast Asia.

Premier Phibum Pibul Songgram said Thailand would support such a military force — created along the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) force in Europe.

The premier told a news conference that Red aggression is increasing in Southeast Asia. He claimed Red China is training a 20,000-man army of Thai expatriates in southwest China under the guise of a "Thai autonomous state" for use against Thailand.

He predicted the Chinese-trained forces would be used to open Communist aggression against Thailand.

Phibum said Thailand will discuss at the conference which opens Wednesday, the advisability of forming a NATO-type fighting force for this area of the world. The three-day conference is to consider means of implementing the mutual defense pact for Southeast Asia, formally ratified in Manila last Saturday.

But it appeared the Philippines' hopes that the military aspect of the treaty would be activated was doomed from the start. All indications pointed toward a conclusion that there would be no NATO-type military organization.

Any so-called "teeth" of the pact will be the unified policy of the Allies and the retaliatory power of their individual military machines.

Dulles in Manila
Secretary of State John Foster Dulles who arrives in Manila today was expected to thresh out the matter in conferences with President Ramon Magsaysay. Dulles leaves Manila Tuesday for Bangkok.

Adm. Felix Stump, U. S. Pacific fleet commander, also was flying to Bangkok via Manila.

It was understood the chief basis of the Bangkok talks would be to seek means of eliminating breeding grounds for Communism, as well as forging weapons to fight it both outwardly and underground.

Although they were outside the framework of the SEATO agreement it was a certainty that the fever points of Formosa and Indochina would occupy much attention at the conference.

London dispatches have strongly suggested that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would try to work out common Anglo-American approach to the Formosa problem with Dulles.

J. M. Booten, 90, Dies at Eldorado

James M. Booten, 90, died today at 2:30 p. m. at 1104 Beulah street in Eldorado where he resided with his daughter, Mrs. Lura Sullivan.

Besides Mrs. Sullivan he leaves two stepchildren, Alfred Davis, Eldorado, and Mrs. Charles Davis, Evansville, Ind.; five grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; a niece, Mrs. Flora Street, and a nephew, Washington Seets, both of Harrisburg.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Beulah Heights Methodist church. Rev. Eula Sanders will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery. The body was taken from the Martin funeral home to the home of the daughter in Eldorado this afternoon.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There is a river, the streams whereof make glad the city of God. —Psalm 46:4.

Rivers rising in the snow-capped mountains brought life and prosperity to the parched lands and thirsty cities. A great city in India—the capital of a mighty conqueror—had to be abandoned because the water supply failed only twenty or thirty years after it was built. Without faith in God and his guidance, people become brutally cruel.

Chiang's Dream

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Now that the Tachen Islands have been successfully evacuated without incident, we face the far more difficult dilemma of what to do about the Quemoy and Matsu islands off the China mainland. It will be something of a minor miracle if we can solve this problem without damage to our cause.

We start, of course, with the proposition that we are determined to defend and hold Formosa and the adjacent Pescadores.

Second, it is our plan to use American air and naval forces in this defense, but to rely on Chinese Nationalist ground troops rather than commit our own.

Third, should the Nationalist troops fail in their assignment for one reason or another, we would be faced with the choice of abandoning Formosa to the Communists or throwing American soldiers into the breach.

This brings us right to the stickler: Whether the Nationalist Chinese have the will to carry out their Formosa assignment may very likely depend on the fate of the Matsus and Quemoy.

The American military view is that these islands are useful but not essential to the protection of Formosa. But to Chiang Kai-shek and his men, they are the last remaining visible props supporting the Nationalist dream of a return to the mainland. Let them fall, and the dream will collapse.

If that should happen, the general belief in official Washington is that the Nationalists' morale would also crumble. Chiang's men are Chinese and their one sustaining thread is the hope of going home. They are not eager to defend Formosa unless that operation is linked with a return to the mainland.

If their morale were to disintegrate, the ground defense of Formosa might be feeble. Worse, there might be sweeping defections among the Nationalists who saw that course as the one way to get back home. It would not be the first time defections had played an important part in the long Chinese civil war. In the mainland combat which ended in 1949, the Nationalists often yielded men and arms to the Reds in wholesale lots.

Evidently we don't want to defend the Quemoy and Matsus on the very doorstep of China. But if we don't, we may soon face a showdown on the future of Chiang's armies, which we selfishly view as useful in the free world's defense.

Yet perhaps this is a crisis that is fast approaching anyway. Even granting that the Quemoy and Matsus were held, one may wonder how long Chiang and his aging forces could cling to the fragile notion they are going back to overthrow the Reds by force.

Maybe we ought to let the dream be exposed for the cruel thing it is, and begin making new calculations for the land defense of Formosa. The Nationalists just might surprise us and decide that freedom there is better than slavery at home.

Two Children Burn To Death at Salem

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — Two children burned to death and their parents and three sisters escaped with burns when fire destroyed their home here early today.

The victims were Jerry Branch, 7, and his sister, Brenda, 10, who were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Branch. The parents were badly burned in the fire which traveled Jerry and Brenda in a bedroom.

Branch rescued three of his daughters — age 11, 13, and 15 — through a window. Their burns were reported not serious.

Authorities believed the fire started from propane cooking gas which leaked from a pipe under the floor and was ignited by another stove.

The Army has only 345 officers and enlisted men in its worldwide military attaché system.

Capital Sees Formosa as A Continued Stalemate

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Likeliest outcome of the Formosa crisis is now regarded in Washington as a continued stalemate.

A remote possibility is for an undeclared, uneasy cease-fire agreement. Before that is achieved, there may be some testing out of military action by Red China, probing to see how far the U. S. will go in backing up Nationalist Chinese forces.

The worst possible outcome is conceived as a United Nations resolution which would be acceptable to Communist China, but which the United States could not accept. Such a solution would be a UN decision to give Formosa to Red China.

An American veto of this solution in the UN Security Council would have the effect of separating the U. S. from its allies. There is a general recognition in Washington that any decision in the United States which would give Formosa to the Communists would be a UN decision to give Formosa to Red China.

Even Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, is said to recognize that this country must have world opinion on its side.

HE HAS BEEN QUOTED FREQUENTLY as favoring a China blockade, a more aggressive military policy for the U. S. in the Far East, and a fight-now-rather-than-later policy.

This has been limited, however, by his belief that these things could be done only if the international political atmosphere is right and there is world backing for American policy. This is an important qualification frequently omitted in stating the Admiral's views.

The basic military decision in handling the Far Eastern situation is that the retention of Formosa in hands friendly to the U. S. is essential for American defense. Civilian officials don't question the decision of the military on this point.

A contributing factor to this decision is a civilian, political reasoning that any further retreat or concession of real estate to the Communists in the Far East will have a devastating effect on the Allied cause in Asia.

If the United States lets Red China have Formosa without a fight, there is a risk that the whole of Asia will go down the Communist drain. The Asian people want to be on a winning side.

In the defense of Formosa there is a firm conviction that no American ground forces shall be committed on the China mainland. Any U. S. action will be limited to U. S. Navy and Air Force.

THE QUESTION THAT ARISES from this is whether the United States would fight to support the Chinese Nationalists' present hold on Quemoy or Matsus.

The United States definitely does not want to go to war with Communist China over a tiny, Chinese coastal island. Furthermore, the Chinese Reds have said many times that they were fighting not to liberate Quemoy, but to win Formosa.

On the other hand, suppose the U. S. gave no support to Chinese Nationalists to hold the off-shore islands. Suppose they fell into Communist hands without a struggle.

That might destroy Nationalist Chinese morale. It would make the holding of Formosa impossible. The next step would be that the U. S. would have to fight on the ground to save Formosa.

Some of the coastal islands are said to be almost impregnable.

If No War by Summer, Years of Peace, Sen. George, Dean of Senate, Says

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If the U. S. can avoid major war until summer, the odds of having peace for many years thereafter will be good.

It may not be the perfect peace, may be blemished by minor conflicts, but there will not be a war of world annihilation by atomic weapons.

This prediction comes from white-haired Sen. Walter George (D., Ga.), the 76-year-old Dean of the Senate, who is in an excellent position to make it. As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he is a key man in helping to guide America past the treacherous shoals of war.

With a Democratic Congress and a Republican administrative branch George's statesmanship is vital. A lesser man could do irreparable harm in the spot.

"The job is inherently non-partisan," George says, "and any chairman who kept himself at a partisan level would be doomed to failure."

George's recent aggressive support for President Eisenhower's request for authority to act in Formosa is typical of the enlightened bi-partisan machinery which George means to maintain.

First, the senator sees eye-to-eye with the President on most major foreign policy matters. "Oh, there may be details here and there where we differ, but it's nothing that isn't easily and quickly worked out," he says.

Second, George's 33 years of dignified service in the Senate has made him probably the most respected man in that august body. When he makes one of his infrequent speeches, with old-fashioned, rafter-raising oratory, full membership usually sits in rapt attention.

His years have slowed him slightly. He was an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman and still does a little fishing when the Senate is not in session.

"But I have trouble telling whether a dove is five feet away or 15," he complains.

His opposition to drinking has always kept him from the liquid type social life here. In recent years he and his charming wife, "Miz Lucy," have restricted their social life even more.

His rule is to attend no social function unless it's in the Mayflower Hotel, where the Georges have an apartment. He rarely does that.

He's an avid TV fan, however, watching every athletic event and news show until the stations go off the air. He loves to read mystery books when he gets time from his prodigious official reading.

It's the careful attention to details of committee work, rather than flamboyant espousal of great causes, which has earned George the great reputation he enjoys in foreign relations and fiscal matters.

In this regard the years have not dulled his vision. He's in his office early and stays late, working tirelessly. "He'd come earlier and stay later if the staff would," says his son Heard, the Senator's administrative assistant. Another son was killed in action during World War II.

George is jealous of the rights of his committee and feels that the chairman's role is not to be either a rubber stamp or negative critic.

"Although the committee and its chairman cannot make foreign policy I take a positive position on all matters coming before us," he says.

"I offer suggestions and participate in planning when I feel that I am informed on a particular situation," he adds.

He now feels that the State Department is cooperating fully with the committee. "They used to call us in after decisions were made and announced," he recalls. "But now they do their best to let us in on planning beforehand and it is working out fine."

Because of his age there are periodic rumors that the Senator is suffering from poor health. "I have to knock on wood during the winter," he admits, "but right now my health is fine."

This is apparent from his trim bearing and display of mental and physical alertness, although a weaker man could long ago have been bowed by the events which have burdened him.

He is proud of his humble birth on a Georgia tenant farm. In spite of poverty he won a good education, a law degree from Mercer and a reputation as a persuasive orator.

That was followed by private practice, election as solicitor of the Vienna, Ga., city court, then to a State Supreme Court judgeship and finally to the Senate in 1922 to succeed fiery old Sen. Tom Watson.

He defeated Franklin Roosevelt's attempt to "purge" him in the senatorial campaign of 1938. In spite of this clash with FDR, George continued to work closely with the President during World War II.

Second Annual Chili Day Feb. 24 by Carrier Mills Lions

The Carrier Mills Lions club will hold its second annual Chili Day Thursday, Feb. 24, from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Last year the Lions club, with the late Fred Wasson chairman of the event, staged a Chili Day that was successful in every way and it was decided to make it an annual affair.

Proceeds from this year's Chili Day will go into the fund for equipping the new park in Carrier Mills.

Last summer the Lions club purchased a tract of ground and cleared it of underbrush to be used as a park. This year the club wants to start equipping the grounds with picnic tables, fireplaces and playground equipment for the children. The Chili Day will be held in the Masonic temple with members of the Order of Eastern Star assisting Lions club members in preparing and serving the food.

In addition to chili there will be hot dogs, cake, coffee, soda pop and milk.

Various meat packing houses, bakeries, bottling company and wholesale food distributors are donating food for the day.

Members of the committee in charge of the affair are Morse Hill, chairman; Ben Chaney, James Thornton, Harry McAtee and Ellis Simpson.

SPRINGFIELD — Union and company officials scheduled another meeting today in efforts to avoid a strike by linemen and plant workers of the General Telephone Co. of Illinois.

Representatives of the company, Locals 51 and 702 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and Francis Sheridan, Peoria, a federal conciliator met last Friday.

Sheridan reported little progress at the Friday meeting, but the group agreed to meet again at 1 p. m. today.

The union, representing more than 500 linemen and plant workers, voted to strike rather than accept a company wage increase averaging 5.3 cents per hour. Present wages range from $1.19 to $2.05 per hour.

Disagreement over the wage increase, seniority provisions and other points has held up signing of a new contract. The old contract expired Jan. 22.

OUT OUR WAY

Administration Splits Over Hawaii, Alaska

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration split today over the desirability of admitting Alaska as a state along with Hawaii.

The State Department said statehood for both territories would "serve to support American foreign policy and strengthen the position of the United States in international relations."

The Interior and Defense departments advocated admission of Hawaii, but said Alaska was too undeveloped and too important from a defense standpoint to be granted statehood at this time.

The split within the administration was disclosed as a Senate Interior subcommittee opened hearings on legislation to admit both Alaska and Hawaii as states. Similar legislation was approved last year by the Senate, but died in the House in the face of administration opposition.

President Eisenhower again this year has advocated statehood for Hawaii but not Alaska.

Two Coal Mine Deaths in January

Odum Murder Trial Begins at Marion

MARION, Ill. (UP) — The trial of Fred Odum, 40, for the murder of Lorin Norman, 25, began today with questioning of prospective jurors from a venire of 60 persons.

Aga Khan Receives $840,000 for Weight in Platinum

CAIRO, Egypt (UP) — Representatives of the Ismaili Moslem sect announced plans today to weigh the Aga Khan against radium in 1965. They estimated the necessary $840,000 could easily be raised before then.

The announcement came almost immediately after Sunday's platinum jubilee celebration when the Aga Khan, Imam of the Ismaili sect, received a check for $840,000.

The Ismailis said they plan to hold the ceremony in an airplane as the Aga flies over the parts of Asia and Africa where most of his followers reside.

Nationalists Announce Sinking Of Second Sub

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP) — The Nationalist Chinese air force announced today it had sunk another unidentified submarine near the T'ai-shan Islands.

The Taishans are the scene of a massive Red build-up for an anticipated attack either of Nanchi or Matsu islands north of Formosa.

It was the second unidentified submarine claimed sunk by the Nationalists in the last four days.

The air force, which has kept Red troops and artillery positions on T'ai-shan under incessant attack since Friday, said it found the submarine surfaced near T'ai-shan and immediately bombed and strafed it.

It said the submarine disappeared beneath the waves and was presumed sunk.

At the same time the Nationalist press reported 11 submarines sighted in or near the strait by intelligence sources. The semi-official Chinatone News Agency reported the undersea force had moved from Hainan Island bases into waters patrolled by the U. S. 7th Fleet.

The workers left their jobs at the Sangamo plant at Ordell west of here Feb. 10 and 11 in a wildcat walkout.

To look at Johnny Fletcher, sprawled on the bed, with his hands under his head, you would have thought that he was doing a spot of plain ordinary loafing. But no, Johnny was really working. He was thinking.

In the bathroom, Sam Cragg splashed away as he washed out their socks and underwear. They'd missed breakfast and dinner the night before, but there'd be something to eat today. Johnny was thinking. He'd come up with something; he always did.

And then the man banged on the door.

Sam stepped to the door and opened it a few inches. A large, truculent-looking man pushed the door all the way open. "I'm looking for Sam Cragg."

"You don't have to go on looking in," Sam replied cheerfully. "That's me."

"Good for me," the large man said. He took a card from his pocket and glanced at it. "Three years ago you bought a mandolin from the Ajax Mandolin Company."

"That's right," conceded Sam. "An' I got a beef against that Ajax Mandolin Company. They said a child could learn to play their music maker in two weeks. Well, I'm smarter than any child and I banged away at that dingus every day for three months and I only got noise out of it."

"The point is, you paid $3.00 down on that mandolin and you were supposed to pay 50 cents a week on it. Only you didn't. So you owe forty-six fifty, plus interest, or a grand total of sixty-seven seventy-five."

Johnny Fletcher exclaimed petulantly. "For the love of Mike, Sam, can't you entertain your friends a little more quietly? I'm trying to think."

"That ain't no friend, Johnny. He's tryin' to collect on that mandolin. You know—we hocked it in Duluth."

"So!" roared the bill collector. "You pawned an article that you did not legally own. Mister, you certainly made a mistake that time!"

Johnny Fletcher sprang to his feet. "What is this all about?" He stabbed a lean forefinger at the man in the doorway. "Don't tell me you're a bill collector?"

"I am, brother, just a plain ordinary bill collector. From the Acme Adjustment Agency, A.A.A., that's who. And, brother, have I got you fellows over a barrel?"

Johnny rubbed his hands together. A smile played over his lips, but his eyes gleamed metallically. "A bill collector, trying to collect money from Johnny Fletcher. Ha ha ha!"

The big bill collector leaned against the wall and showed big teeth. "Johnny Fletcher, huh? Supposed to be somebody, huh? Well, meet J. J. Kilkenny, meaner than a barrel of cats by that name. Just the roughest, toughest bill collector in the business, that's all. When I find them, they pay."

"Now you're talkin' in my department," Sam Cragg declared. "Okay, Johnny? Or do you want to make some more chitchat first?"

"Oh, let's not be hasty, Sam. We'll talk to him a little and we'll listen to him a little."

"The talkin' will be short and the listenin' will be shorter," said J. J. Kilkenny. "In fact, it's over." He straightened, hitched up his trousers belt and took a step forward. "Sixty-seven seventy-five or the party gets rough."

He reached out a big hand. Sam took the hand lightly in his own. Kilkenny smiled pleasantly, whisked his hand out of Sam's, grabbed Sam's wrist and stepping quickly around behind Sam, attempted to pull the hand and arm around with him, to clamp on a hammerlock. But Sam's hand and arm didn't follow Kilkenny. Instead, Sam stiffened his arm, gave a slight forward jerk and broke Kilkenny's hold. Then he turned, grabbed two handfuls of Kilkenny's coat and shook the big bill collector.

Kilkenny's hands flailed out, found Sam's head. Muscular arms went around Sam and tightened in a headlock. Sam turned easily in the headlock, reached over his left shoulder with both hands and, catching hold of Kilkenny's head, stooped suddenly.

Kilkenny sailed smoothly over Sam's shoulders and hit the floor on his back, with a crash that probably broke a few electric light bulbs in the room below. When Kilkenny climbed shakily to his feet, Sam was leaning easily against the wall. "You want to make it two falls out of three?"

Kilkenny shook his head groggily. "Let me think it over a minute. You're a $10.00 skip. That's okay. I can exert myself for 10 bucks. On the other hand, I might tear my suit throwing you and it might cost 10 bucks to get it sewed up. There wouldn't be any profit left, would there?"

"There wouldn't," interposed Johnny. "And there might even be a loss, if you had to have a doctor patch up a broken leg or two."

"No chance of that. I can throw him, all right. That snap mare was just luck, because I wasn't expectin' it."

"I've got news for you," said Johnny. "Sam can throw you all day long. Sure, you're big and tough. But not tough enough for Sam. He's Sam Cragg, alias Young Samson, the strongest man in the world. He breaks iron chains merely by expanding his chest. If we had a chain here, Sam would tie it around his chest and when I'd give him the word he'd draw a deep breath and his chest would swell and swell until the chain would snap as if it were mere twine. And me, if I had any copies of 'Every Man a Samson,' I'd be passing 'em out to the crowd and collecting $2.95 for each and every copy."

Johnny paused, sighed heavily. "That's what we'd do if we had a chain and if we had any books. But we ain't got a chain, and we ain't got any books. That's why we're hoked up at the Forty-Fifth Street Hotel until I can figure out an angle for making some dough. And then you—a bill collector—come in here and try to collect money from us!"

The bill collector nodded thoughtfully. "So you're broke. That's fine. You can't count it against me if the customer really ain't got the dough."

"No," said Johnny, "but even if we had the money you couldn't get it from us. You're not a good enough man."

"If you had the money I'd get it out of you."

"Uh-uh," said Johnny cheerfully. "Even if Sam wasn't here you wouldn't get the money. I'd talk you out of it. Oh, I suppose you're all right as bill collectors go, but no bill collector could outtalk Johnny Fletcher."

Overland trails of the Indians, worn deep long before white men came to America, were remarkable for following the shortest and easiest way possible between various points. Most of the modern transportation lines east of the Mississippi are based on them.

Republican Hits Hall Claim On Ike Popularity

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Midwestern Republican congressman has challenged GOP claims about President Eisenhower's popularity.

"There are sections of the country wherein Mr. Eisenhower's popularity is not as great as you think it is," Rep. Timothy F. Sheehan (R-Ill.) said in a letter to National GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Sheehan's letter, released Sunday night, took issue with a recent speech by Hall in which the party chairman criticized some right wing elements in the party. Hall also admonished right-wingers who have expressed anti-Eisenhower sentiments, to consider the President's great personal popularity.

Hall made the remarks before the GOP National Committee following a meeting of right-wing Republicans in Chicago. Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah suggested at the Chicago gathering that it might be necessary to set up a third party of conservative Republicans and Democrats.

Sheehan said Republicans in Cook County, Ill., suffered one of their worst defeats last November by hitching their wagon "to the star of Mr. Eisenhower's popularity."

Many followers of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) "failed to vote," Sheehan wrote, "because they did not like the treatment accorded him by the Republican party."

He said he believes in Mr. Eisenhower "as a man." But, he said, many people in the Middle West are not completely happy "with the high influence of many of our Eastern members who seem to look down on the Middle West." Sheehan also accused Hall of

Predict Big Travel Year

WASHINGTON — Americans are the world's greatest travelers. To prove it, 75,000,000 of them will pack up and take "See America" vacation trips this year, according to the automobile association.

Another half million U. S. pleasure-seekers will go abroad, setting an all-time high in international travel, the AAA added.

Over 63,000,000 will travel to vacation spots by automobile, according to the AAA. Americans are showing a preference for short instead of long motor trips.

These motorists will find good news as far as prices and accommodations are concerned. There are more overnight accommodations than ever before. Many hotels are remodeling to meet the growing competition from motels.

Europe Preferred
The AAA said there will be no increase in prices over last year; a dip in prices in some places.

In the field of foreign travel, more middle and lower income families will go abroad on a "pay later" travel plan offered by many airlines and steamship companies.

Reflecting the international interest in skiing, some airlines are offering low-cost ski tours to European sports centers this winter. Pan American Airways offers such tours on its 10 per cent down, "pay later" plan.

Europe remains the most popular foreign vacation attraction for Americans, but there is increasing competition from the British West Indies, Cuba and Asia.

While Americans are viewing foreign countries, the United States will be viewed by over 600,000 foreign visitors this year, the AAA estimated.

Artificial Pearls Now Made in Hongkong
HONGKONG — An artificial pearls factory—something new in this Crown Colony—is producing 30,000 dozen annually, according to Far Eastern Economic Review.

With skills learned from Japan, the workshop was established in Hongkong early in 1954.

"Manufacturing in Hongkong depends on cheap labor," it said. "As all products are made by hand, evenness in the making can hardly be obtained. The industry is, in fact, small and styles and work are more backward than foreign products."

"Owing to the competition of imported artificial jewelry and the prevailing preference of the Hongkong people for stylish and delicate foreign artificial jewelry, the local products are mostly exported to other countries rather than marketed for local sales."

"They are chiefly exported to Indonesia, Philippines and South Africa, where the people prefer cheaper ornaments."

Player Injured as Crab Orchard Loses To Mounds Douglass
Leroy Graves, Crab Orchard high school basketball player, knocked himself out Saturday night in the Crab Orchard-Mounds Douglass cage game and was moved to the Marion hospital.

Reports from the Crab Orchard high school this morning stated the injury apparently was not serious, although five stitches were required to close a scalp wound.

He was injured when he dived for a loose ball and cracked his head on the gym floor, it is said. Mounds won the game 75-73.

Illinois Meets Iowa Tonight In Battle to Remain in Contention for Big 10 Title

CHICAGO — Second place Iowa and third place Illinois battle at Champaign tonight to remain in position to challenge league leading Minnesota for the Big Ten basketball crown.

A loss probably would eliminate Illinois from title contention, but a win for the Illini would make it possible for both clubs to share the title with the Gophers.

Minnesota, meanwhile, plays at Wisconsin tonight and was a heavy favorite to win. After this match, the Gophers entertain Iowa Feb. 28 and close the season against the Badgers at Minneapolis March 5. But Wisconsin wasn't figured to challenge the league leaders in either battle and hence it appeared the Gophers' worst possible finish would be 11 wins and three defeats, should Iowa win their match.

Iowa Close Behind Gophers
Iowa headed into the Illinois battle with eight wins and two defeats, a half a game behind Minnesota, which has won nine of the Hawks could finish ahead of the Illini, with a seven-and-three record. Should Illinois win tonight, then both the Hawks and Illini could finish with an 11 and three mark. Should Iowa triumph, then the Hawks could finish ahead of Minnesota, or perhaps in a tie should the Gophers stumble against Wisconsin.

Even though Iowa won the first game against Illinois, 92-80, the Illini were favored to win tonight. Illinois held a first half lead against the Hawks, but fell before a last half rally. On the Huff Gym floor, Illinois rated more consideration.

Three other league contests were on the program tonight. Purdue at Indiana, Michigan at Ohio State and Northwestern at Michigan State. None, however, was of major concern for all six clubs were virtually eliminated from more than a share of the title. Only Northwestern and Michigan could tie and then only by winning all remaining games while Minnesota and Iowa lose all they have left.

Close Season This Week Against West Frankfort And Johnston City
The Harrisburg Bull Dogs wind up their regular basketball season this week-end with two home games after travelling the 140 miles to Charleston to drop an 88-63 decision Saturday night to the Coles county crew.

Friday night the Bull Dogs finish their South Seven conference season by entertaining the West Frankfort Red Birds. Saturday evening the Johnston City Indians come to town for the finale. The following week the locals enter regional tournament competition at Norris City.

At Charleston, Harrisburg let the Trojans run up a ten-point margin early, which they held until the last quarter when the lead was increased.

During the first half of the first period Charleston went ahead, 14-4 before the Bull Dogs could get going. The two teams then played on even terms the rest of the frame, which ended 24-14, through the second quarter, which ended 42-31, and through the third, which ended 61-51.

The bottom fell out in the last quarter, however, when the locals were outscored 21 to 12.

Anglin Scores 21 Points
The Trojans shot a better average in their small gym than did the locals. Harrisburg connected with 21 goals in 60 attempts for .350, while Charleston hit for a very good .439, making 36 out of 82 shots from the field.

In the free throw department Harrisburg made 21 out of 33, Charleston 16 out of 23.

Dave Anglin, ill Friday night, played Saturday and was high scorer for the locals with 21 points. Gerald Wasson had his best scoring night, making 20 points from his center post.

However, the high men of the game were a couple from Charleston. Bob Parkison, center, had 29, and Al Walter, forward, had 27.

The loss gives Harrisburg an 8-13 mark for the season. Charleston, in the Eastern Illinois conference, has 16-6 following the win over Harrisburg.

Only the varsity team made the trip to Charleston. They stayed all night there and returned home Sunday.

Play Will Begin Tonight in Five Dist. Tourneys
SPRINGFIELD — The chase for the 1955 Illinois prep basketball crown gets underway tonight. District meets will open at five centers to signal the start of tournament competition leading to selection of a state champion March 19.

Only the smaller schools are entered in district tourneys. The winners of the 44 district meets advance to next week's regionals, where the larger schools begin their tourney play.

The 60 regional winners move on to sectionals the following week. The 15 sectional champs, plus the Chicago public school titlist, square off at Champaign in the "Sweet Sixteen" finals March 16-19.

Roanoke, host at its own meet, sports the best record of any of the would-be "Little Davids" entered in district play — 26 wins against no losses. Roanoke closed out its regular season with an 85-62 triumph over Minonk-Dana Friday night.

Weekend play around the state also saw the end of the winning streak of Princeton's Tigers, who had tripped up 23 foes before they bumped into Peoria Woodruff Saturday night. Woodruff surprised Princeton with a 74-60 defeat.

Centralia Edges Salem
It was a case of history repeating itself. Last season, Princeton lost the first game it played and then won 23 in a row, only to have Woodruff cut the string at that point.

Centralia, Moline, Morton of Cicero, Elgin, Pekin, Collinsville and Edwardsville picked up victories elsewhere Saturday night.

Centralia's Orphans barely missed suffering an upset at the hands of Salem, squeezing through by a 49-47 score. Another Southern thriller saw Mount Vernon nip Herrin 56-54 in an overtime game.

Morton disposed of Niles 66-60 in a suburban contest, while Elgin of the Big Eight Conference bested Evanston 57-55. Barrington rebounded from Friday's loss to Woodstock to down Aurora West 65-53.

In the southwestern area, the picture was clouded by Alton's 65-61 win over East St. Louis. Collinsville's Kahoks trimmed Granite City 79-50 and Edwardsville topped Gillespie 65-60.

Play Will Begin Tonight in Five Dist. Tourneys
SPRINGFIELD — The chase for the 1955 Illinois prep basketball crown gets underway tonight. District meets will open at five centers to signal the start of tournament competition leading to selection of a state champion March 19.

Only the smaller schools are entered in district tourneys. The winners of the 44 district meets advance to next week's regionals, where the larger schools begin their tourney play.

The 60 regional winners move on to sectionals the following week. The 15 sectional champs, plus the Chicago public school titlist, square off at Champaign in the "Sweet Sixteen" finals March 16-19.

Roanoke, host at its own meet, sports the best record of any of the would-be "Little Davids" entered in district play — 26 wins against no losses. Roanoke closed out its regular season with an 85-62 triumph over Minonk-Dana Friday night.

Weekend play around the state also saw the end of the winning streak of Princeton's Tigers, who had tripped up 23 foes before they bumped into Peoria Woodruff Saturday night. Woodruff surprised Princeton with a 74-60 defeat.

Centralia Edges Salem
It was a case of history repeating itself. Last season, Princeton lost the first game it played and then won 23 in a row, only to have Woodruff cut the string at that point.

Centralia, Moline, Morton of Cicero, Elgin, Pekin, Collinsville and Edwardsville picked up victories elsewhere Saturday night.

Centralia's Orphans barely missed suffering an upset at the hands of Salem, squeezing through by a 49-47 score. Another Southern thriller saw Mount Vernon nip Herrin 56-54 in an overtime game.

Morton disposed of Niles 66-60 in a suburban contest, while Elgin of the Big Eight Conference bested Evanston 57-55. Barrington rebounded from Friday's loss to Woodstock to down Aurora West 65-53.

In the southwestern area, the picture was clouded by Alton's 65-61 win over East St. Louis. Collinsville's Kahoks trimmed Granite City 79-50 and Edwardsville topped Gillespie 65-60.

Close Season This Week Against West Frankfort And Johnston City
The Harrisburg Bull Dogs wind up their regular basketball season this week-end with two home games after travelling the 140 miles to Charleston to drop an 88-63 decision Saturday night to the Coles county crew.

Friday night the Bull Dogs finish their South Seven conference season by entertaining the West Frankfort Red Birds. Saturday evening the Johnston City Indians come to town for the finale. The following week the locals enter regional tournament competition at Norris City.

At Charleston, Harrisburg let the Trojans run up a ten-point margin early, which they held until the last quarter when the lead was increased.

During the first half of the first period Charleston went ahead, 14-4 before the Bull Dogs could get going. The two teams then played on even terms the rest of the frame, which ended 24-14, through the second quarter, which ended 42-31, and through the third, which ended 61-51.

The bottom fell out in the last quarter, however, when the locals were outscored 21 to 12.

Anglin Scores 21 Points
The Trojans shot a better average in their small gym than did the locals. Harrisburg connected with 21 goals in 60 attempts for .350, while Charleston hit for a very good .439, making 36 out of 82 shots from the field.

In the free throw department Harrisburg made 21 out of 33, Charleston 16 out of 23.

Dave Anglin, ill Friday night, played Saturday and was high scorer for the locals with 21 points. Gerald Wasson had his best scoring night, making 20 points from his center post.

However, the high men of the game were a couple from Charleston. Bob Parkison, center, had 29, and Al Walter, forward, had 27.

The loss gives Harrisburg an 8-13 mark for the season. Charleston, in the Eastern Illinois conference, has 16-6 following the win over Harrisburg.

Only the varsity team made the trip to Charleston. They stayed all night there and returned home Sunday.

2 Sailors Dead, 3 Missing as Blasts Rock Sub

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two sailors were killed, and three others were missing and presumed dead when a series of explosions rocked the submarine U. S. S. Pomodon at its berth in Hunters Point Naval Shipyard, the Navy reported today.

The three explosions, the first of which took place about 9:20 o'clock Sunday night, were followed by a fire that caused "a lot of damage" to the World War II sub.

Sailors aboard another sub, the U. S. S. Catfish, and the carrier Philippine Sea, as well as civilians helped in rescue operations. Many donned oxygen masks and boarded the burning Pomodon.

Two civilian fire fighters were injured and three other persons were treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen managed to bring the fire under control two hours after it broke out, but the Navy forbade anyone to go aboard until the task of pumping the hydrogen out of the hull was completed.

A Navy spokesman said the pumping operations would take anywhere from several hours to several days. They had to work with extreme caution lest the least false move touch off another searing blast.

a lonely road in the teeth of a wild snowstorm.

A 32-year old divorcee, Mrs. Helen Williams, crashed her car through a guard rail and sent it tumbling 84 feet down a slope at San Francisco's scenic Twin Peaks. Police said Mrs. Williams' suicide, which was witnessed by hundreds, stemmed from a thwarted romance.

In Atlanta, meanwhile, police said the motive for Tredaway's murder spree was "jealousy—period."

The bodies of Mrs. Ella Warren, a 39-year old widow, and of John Birlyn Booth, 49, and Ira D. Lane, 49, were scattered through Mrs. Warren's five room house. Another woman, Mrs. Anna Padgett Cons, 45, was in serious condition with a bullet in her abdomen.

Resented Other Men
Mrs. Warren's 19-year old daughter, Marilyn, told police that Tredaway, 46, had been dating her mother and resented any attentions paid to her by other men.

The motive behind the Hoover, Pa., slaughter appeared to be sex perversion, Fayette county officials said.

The house of death was discovered after Anthony Rivak, 34, staggered into a tavern and said Miller shot him when he refused to go on a "sex date."

The bodies of Miller's wife, Helen, 41, and his daughter, 17, were found in the basement buried in a coal sack. Police said the wife was killed with a hatchet Wednesday or early Thursday and the daughter 12 hours later.

Miller's body, his wrists slashed and a bullet wound in his chest, was found on a first floor bed. An unclothed young man, his head battered by hatchet blows, lay next to him. Another unclothed young man, killed by the same weapon, was on an upstairs bed.

There Is No Greater Legal Penalty For Striking a Person Wearing Glasses.

There are no laws specifically providing any greater penalty; however, as a person wearing glasses would be more likely to be injured from a blow in the face, the court might take the fact into consideration in an assault and battery case. 1. "Uncommon Knowledge"—Geo. W. Stimpson.
